AARP'S
NOTICE OF SUPPLEMENTAL AUTHORITY

AARP gives notice of filing the article "Verizon CFO: Co Expects To Win Back Residential Customers," Dow Jones Newswires, September 9, 2004 (copy attached hereto) as supplemental authority in support of its Motion for Evidentiary Hearing and Modification of Commission Orders Nos. PSC-03-1469-FOF-TL and PSC-04-0456-FOF-TL On The Basis Of Significantly Changed Circumstances And Public Need filed

September 8, 2004.

The “Verizon CFO: Co Expects To Win Back Residential Customers” article is pertinent to AARP’s arguments in the above-described motion that enhanced local service competition is “highly improbable, if not possible,” as a result of significantly changed circumstances occurring after the entry of the final order of the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeal in which the Court reversed the Federal Communications Commission’s Triennial Review Order requiring low-cost UNE-P rates in the case of United States Telecom Ass’n v. Federal Communications Commission, 359 F.3d 554 (D.C. Cir. 2004), as well as the publicly reported decision of AT&T to abandon its efforts to compete for (1) local service telephone customers and (2) residential long distance customers, and the publicly reported decisions of MCI and Sprint to quit marketing their competitive residential local service products. The supplemental authority is particularly pertinent because it appears to suggest not only that local service competition is not being enhanced, but also that it is, in fact, declining, at least in Verizon’s service territories:

NEW YORK (Dow Jones)—Verizon Communications (VZ) has seen a “marked decrease” in the number of residential phone lines leased to competitors since a change in federal rules favoring Baby Bells, according to its finance chief.

The change prompted AT&T Corp. (T) to stop competing for residential phone customers and has given Verizon the opportunity to win back many of its former customers.

DATED this ____ day of September, 2004.

Respectfully submitted,

---
